◆ Special Membership Option for Members in Developing Countries

In keeping, with IEEE's mission to "Advance Technology for Humanity," IEEE offers a special electronic-only membership option, at a reduced dues rate, for individuals who reside in developing countries. By choosing the e-Membership option at a reduced dues rate, you will receive electronic versions of your membership card, 'IEEE Spectrum' and 'The Institute' publications. Reduced fees such as unemployed, retired or minimum income are not available for e-Membership but may be applied to Society memberships.

Annual base dues for e-Membership are US$77. Traditional membership base dues are US$149. IEEE traditional and e-Membership both carry a region-specific activity assessment of US $4, $5 or $13 to support locally sponsored member events. This will be included in the total amount due at checkout.

Traditional membership is automatically selected for new members. Renewing members who previously had e-Membership will have the option already selected. If you wish to select the e-Membership option or change it to Traditional, choose Edit below.
